Cybernet Systems Enhances NetMAX Reseller Program with New Product Incentives and Increased Sales Support

Price Incentives and Additional Channel Support Facilitate Reseller Success

Ann Arbor, Michigan, October 25, 2004 — Cybernet Systems Corporation today announced several key enhancements to its NetMAX reseller program, offering members dramatic cost savings, increased customer service and support, and a wide array of new sales and marketing tools. Designed to deliver premium access to the NetMAX product line at prices discounted up to 33 percent, the program helps resellers provide its customers with low-cost, high-feature network server solutions.

Cybernet's popular NetMAX product line is a Linux-based network server software package that supports PC/Mac/Unix file sharing, e-commerce, e-mail, web traffic, desktop applications, security, network gateways and wireless access. The software delivers a powerful but affordable solution for almost any security or shared server requirement, creating an ideal "white box" offering for resellers that target the SMB market. NetMAX is designed to provide the power and robustness found in true enterprise class server systems, without any of the complexity or cost.

"Cybernet has a strong combination of products and support, making a relationship with the company valuable to all resellers. In the past, we've worked with various distributions of Linux and felt that most are too complicated for SMBs. However, Cybernet eliminates the complexities of Linux, giving us a product that's powerful, and easy to deploy and maintain," said Bill Salagovic, founder of Dimensional Data Company, Inc. located in Pueblo, CO. "The new discounts, increased support and exclusive materials make it clear to us that Cybernet is going the extra mile to help position us for success."

Program Benefits:

- Up to 33 percent discount on all NetMAX software
- New hardware discounts at comparable rates
- One free hour of support and a 50 percent discount on all additional support

- New consulting service discounts
- Complimentary annual renewals for resellers purchasing $2000 or more in NetMAX products
- Access to free online reseller support sessions
- New quarterly reseller newsletter and increased access to a dedicated VAR advocate
- Access to NetMAX reseller-only resources including marketing materials, personal tutor, demos, beta opportunities and more
